ABOUT NUNNE...

Mexican singer-songwriter NUNNE (born Yosune Yáñez) has navigated a profound journey of self-discovery through music. From her early years, NUNNE exhibited an innate musicality, crafting melodies from everyday rhythms and playfully rewriting lyrics to popular tunes. Her formal training in voice and piano commenced at age 11 at esteemed institutions like MVS Academy and School of Rock Mexico, propelling her onto international stages including Lollapalooza in Chicago and Foro Indie Rocks in Mexico City. As her passion for music deepened, NUNNE explored composition and music theory, composing chamber music pieces showcased at prestigious venues across Mexico City.

Relocating to Montreal at 18, to study music production and sound engineering, marked a pivotal moment for NUNNE. Immersed in a new cultural milieu, she felt a deep yearning for the vibrant sounds of her Mexican roots, sparking a creative exploration of traditional and modern Latin sounds, and culminating in her debut EP, "La Selenita". This project, named after the selenite crystal symbolizing foreignness and yearning, explores themes of immigration, nostalgia, and self-acceptance. The EP garnered critical acclaim and nominations at the EMPY Awards, Latin Awards Canada, and Premios Influencia, also earning feature coverage in Rolling Stone en Español and Billboard! magazines.

Building on the success of "La Selenita," NUNNE prepares to release her second studio album "Hakú" this Fall (2024). Inspired by the recent passing of her best friend, the album delves into themes of profound loss and enduring friendship, capturing a spectrum of emotions through acoustic melodies. With singles like "Vuela," "CantaLuna," and "Nada de nada," NUNNE continues to resonate deeply with audiences, affirming her place as a poignant storyteller in contemporary Latin music. Her journey, rooted in cultural exploration and personal introspection, marks NUNNE as a transformative voice in the global music landscape.

DEBUT ALBUM

The album "La Selenita" by Mexican artist NUNNE is an emotional tribute to Latin migrants, reflecting the nostalgia and search for identity of those who have left their homeland. Inspired by her own experience of missing Mexico, NUNNE collaborated with Venezuelan percussionist Zisco to create an EP that blends traditional genres like Cuban son, bolero, and bossa nova with a modern, urban style. With lyrics that speak of migrating, longing, and healing, songs like "El Perdón" and "Náufragos" capture the vulnerability and strength of her voice. Recognized by magazines such as Rolling Stone and Billboard!, and nominated for awards like the Latin Awards Canada, "La Selenita" stands out for its authenticity and emotional depth.

REVIEWS & OPINIONS

"I hear (in NUNNE's music) a very serious and professional work, with a very good production. I believe, without a doubt, that NUNNE has the necessary talent to succeed in the music industry."

Ricardo Durán- Rolling Stone en Español

"NUNNE has a vocal maturity that goes beyond her 21 years" "There is immense quality in her musical proposal"

Sigal Ratner- Billboard!

"Music with top-notch production. The songs have a very interesting mix and NUNNE's voice is spectacular."

Felipe Arriagada- POTQ Magazine

"Nunne's expressive voice, the crystalline production, the simple but so effective videos... This is Latin, but also clearly cosmopolitan, with a lot of potential to reach any listener."

COMING SOON...

After the success of her debut album, the Mexican singer-songwriter NUNNE presents her second studio album, which will be released on October 23, 2024. This work is a tribute to her best friend Hakú, hence its title, and comes after his recent death. Each song on the album seeks to capture the feelings that NUNNE experiences when remembering her friend, navigating a range of feelings that include deep sadness for loss, nostalgia for shared moments, eternal love that transcends death, and the joy of having lived unforgettable experiences together. This acoustic album will be accompanied by three singles: "Vuela", "CantaLuna" and "Nada de Nada", which promise to resonate deeply with their audience, evoking both tears and smiles.

“HAKÚ”

1. VUELA
2. NADA DE NADA
3. POR AHÍ
4. CANTALUNA
5. DEMASIADO
6. MANITA

SINGLES FROM “HAKÚ”

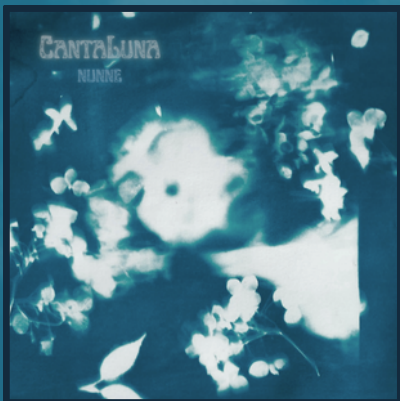

1. Vuela

“Vuela”, the main song, summarizes the spirit of the album and acts as an elegy to the singer-songwriter's best friend. Created as a form of farewell, the song was born from NUNNE's pain because she didn't have the opportunity to say goodbye before Hakú's passing. "Vuela" is her way of letting go and paying tribute to him through her music.

Scheduled for July 31st, 2024

Genre: Acoustic Ballad

Length: 2:00

2. CantaLuna

“CantaLuna”, the most profound song on the album, idealizes that Hakú sees her every night from the sky. NUNNE speaks to him, asks for forgiveness and expresses her desire to accompany him in his new home.

Scheduled for August 28th, 2024

Genre: Latin Alternative

Length: 2:46

3. Nada de Nada

“Nada de Nada”, the lightest song on the album and the favorite among its first listeners, evokes memories where things were said through gazes, a true ode to Hakú's eyes.

Scheduled for September 25th, 2024

Genre: Acoustic Ballad

Length: 2:08
